

AQUARIUM

Fill the aquarium with water (that is, shade some cells) so that connected areas of filled cells have the same level of water everywhere. This means that when a row is shaded in a region, all cells below that row within that region must be shaded as well (similar to when water is filled in a vessel).

Numbers outside the grid indicate how many cells are shaded in that row/column. There can be regions without any shaded cells.

