ARROW FLOW

Place arrows pointing either up, down, left, or right, in each empty cell. No two adjacent cells can have arrows that point in the same direction.

Starting from any cell with an arrow and following the arrows from one cell to the next, a numbered cell must be the end point. The numbered cells indicate the total number of arrows in the grid that lead to this cell.