SASHIKAKU

The puzzle grid contains numbers in some cells.

The aim is to divide the grid into rectangular and square regions such that each region contains exactly one given number.

A given number represents the difference between the width and height of the region to which it belongs.

		2	0
					1
		2	4	2
1		0
		1		2		0

★★★★☆   SAKU-4-009P; © SortedPuzzles