

TONTONBEYA

Fill each cell with either a square, circle, or triangle. A bold-outlined region may contain any types of figures, but if they are different types, the number of figures of each type should be the same.

All figures of the same type within a region must be connected horizontally or vertically (a block).

Each block of identical figures within one region must be adjacent to only one other block of the same figures in another region.

