PUTTERIA

The goal is to place a number into each bold-outlined region.

The placed number is equal to the size of the region. The same number must not appear twice in any row or column.

Cells with numbers cannot be orthogonally adjacent. A cell with a cross cannot contain a number.