

MAGNETIC ICHIMAGA

Connect all circles using horizontal and vertical lines. The number of lines connected to a circle must match the digit in that circle. Circles with the same digits cannot be connected, like the same poles of a magnet.

Any number of lines may connect to an empty circle (at least one). The lines cannot cross other lines. A line may change its direction by 90 degrees no more than once.

